CARMEL VALLEY

Sweet Escape

Vineyard views and outdoor fireplaces inform the rustic-chic aesthetic that defines the Bernardus Lodge & Spa. Reopened in April after an extensive revamp, this wine country haven abuts the rugged Santa Lucia Mountains, just 11 miles from downtown Carmel. Set on 28 acres of vine-dotted, lavender-carpeted, orchard-filled terrain, the charming 57-room property—with architecture and interiors by L.A.-based Arya Group—features a state-of-the-art spa and Lucia Restaurant & Bar, helmed by chef Cal Stamenov. Striving for clean, contemporary silhouettes, Arya utilized warm tones via opulent Italian stonework, mosaic tiles, grass cloth, French oak floors and glitzy chandeliers. Guest rooms feature custom furniture and bathtubs for two. Strathmore chairs, oxidized copper accents, hand-knotted rugs, wrought-iron mirrors and reclaimed wood contrast with Frette linens and fluffy feather beds. Add in the Bernardus wine bar and garden patios, and guests may never leave. Rooms from $475 per night, 415 W. Carmel Valley Road, Carmel Valley, 831.658.3400, bernarduslodge.com —Becca Hensley

Inside Carl Hansen & Son's first West Coast outpost

LOS ANGELES

New Classics

Helms Bakery District in L.A.'s Culver City has been transforming into the city's contemporary design mecca, and now the historic area is home to Carl Hansen & Son's first West Coast location. Situated next to the recently expanded Vitra space, the 2,800-square-foot showroom displays modern Danish design classics from master craftsmen like Hans J. Wegner, Kaare Klint and Ole Wanscher. Check out spring 2015 launches like Wegner's iconic CH88 chairs, now available in six new colors (from $595), and Wegner's reversible tray table, originally created in 1970 (from $950). 8745 Washington Blvd., Culver City, 310.842.8656, carlhansen.com —Amanda Friedman

All That Glitters

No, your eyes are not deceiving you; Sicis' new mosaic styles resemble ultraregal rugs—though they're made entirely of tiles. Loath to scrimp on such lavishness, the Italian company's sublime new line in 24K gold leaf includes delicate nano-mosaics for even more sparkle. Our favorite number, Chardin Gold, displays swirling, arabesque motifs that mimic a hand-knotted floor topper—complete with jaunty "fringe"—and can be installed flush with the floor or mounted like a tapestry. *$800 per square foot, $40,000 for full "rug," Famosa Tile, 3323 Hyland Ave., Ste.
